Message from the Director

This fall was a busy and exciting time for the Forum.

Not only did we welcome a new ADM to the Policy Group – Ms Jill Sinclair – but members of the D Public Pol team working with the SDF community across the country have changed as well.

Ms Marilou Gougeon remains with the Directorate. Ms Candace Mergle and Mr Mathieu Babin have taken up new positions. Ms AJ Boivin has moved on to new opportunities with the Directorate of Asia-Pacific Policy.

Many of you, at institutions across the country, have also taken on new endeavours in past months, ensuring a vibrant year to come for the SDF; I wish you all success in your new pursuits.

All the best.

Aaron Hywarren
Director Public Policy

Building Civil Societies Project

The purpose of the "Building Civil Society" website is to provide, through a single portal, links to all major websites of those governments, NGOs and aid agencies associated with building civil societies around the world.

This project aims to draw attention to international assistance providers and international aid and development programs in selected troubled regions, and to promote public discussion and awareness.

The Building Civil Societies website includes extensive links to selected academic institutions and other sources of critical analysis as well as related media coverage.

The first phase of this project commences with case-studies of Afghanistan, Kosovo and Sudan, each a focal point for Canadian and international assistance. However, the project's aim is to continue adding profiles of societies troubled by violent conflict.
